

Travel Tips

Hartman's Travel Tips mainly intended for Aussies travelling in the USA. Especially those prepared to take the gamble and drive. Remember, Americans drive on the wrong side of the road.

On the Road

The first thing to remember is that they drive on the right side of the road in the US. That is right as in opposite to left, not right as in opposite to wrong. We all know that driving on the left is right - confused?

Read more ... On the Road

Gastronomy

Aussies are not use to tipping but because the service is so good in the US and you get those refills, we are happy to tip. - Our experiences with prices, tipping, lamps and showers. Read more ... Gastronomy

People

Americans usually are very friendly. If you are an Aussie they are even friendlier, they seem to have a love affair with Australia and everything Australian. So how do we make sure the Americans know that we are Aussies? Read more ... People

Flying

Flying is all part of the fun of travel. When you live in Australia and want to go anywhere out of the country then flying is unavoidable. Although Gary in particular hates standing in line, even he accepts delays ... Read more ... Flying

Differences

There are many differences between the United States, it's people and Australia and it's people. Americans drive on the different side of the road, they spell words differently, the numerical date is written backwards, the first floor might not be where we expect it. Read more ... Differences